Our Heritage

Nestled in the heart of the Surrey Hills, Paul Martyn brings over four decades of professional experience to every project. Our work blends traditional English craftsmanship with refined, modern building techniques.

A heritage rooted in oak, natural stone and locally quarried materials, we take pride in building homes that feel perfectly at home in their surroundings.

Each project is managed by skilled tradesmen, trusted suppliers and experienced site managers who share a commitment to excellence and precision from start to finish.

THE EXPERIENCE

When you choose Paul Martyn to build your home, you receive our complete attention, flexibility and the full weight of experience. We believe the journey should be as rewarding as the finished home itself; an inspiring and collaborative process where ideas take shape with care and craftsmanship. Our clients value the reassurance of a team that listens, guides and delivers. When the final details are complete, we want you to step through your new front door and feel the quiet satisfaction of a home built beautifully, one that is built to last.

We understand that building a home is both a financial and emotional investment. Our approach is to bring calm, clarity and confidence at every stage – anticipating challenges before they arise and ensuring every detail is executed to perfection.

The outcome is more than a house: it's a reflection of your vision, built with integrity, built to last.

Our Craft

Every project we undertake is an opportunity to celebrate the beauty of natural materials and the artistry of true craftsmanship. Our background in traditional building, fine joinery, and heritage finishes gives each home a warmth and authenticity that only skilled hands can achieve.

Whether restoring a listed property, extending a period home, or creating something entirely new, we bring together the finest tradesmen and a blend of traditional and modern techniques to deliver homes of lasting quality and character.

DESIGN AND BUILD

From bathrooms to landscape design, the finishing elements of your home are often the last decisions to be made – that’s where we excel. Whether you prefer a collaborative team approach or a more hands-on, one-to-one process mid-build, we adapt to suit your style – making sure the final stages come together smoothly and beautifully.

What Our Clients Say

From our first meeting, we knew we were in safe hands. The Paul Martyn Construction team combined old-school craftsmanship with a calm, organised approach that made the entire process enjoyable. Our home, set in the Surrey Hills, is filled with warmth and natural character — the oak beams and stone detailing are a constant reminder of the care that went into every stage. We couldn't have asked for a better experience."

DON & LEONIE COLES - ROWLEY

CATHERINE STONEMAN - ESHER

"Attention to detail was exceptional. Every trade, from stonemasons to joiners, shared the same pride and precision. The site was managed impeccably, and the respect shown to neighbours and the environment made a lasting impression. Paul Martyn's developed understanding of locally quarried materials has given their work real soul."

HANNAH FREDERICK - FRANHAM

Every testimonial tells the same story — craftsmanship, care, a great team to work with.

Our Promise

We are proud of our reputation for honesty, reliability and craftsmanship. Our projects are built on relationships as much as materials — with clients, architects and trades who share our standards.

Every home we build carries the quiet hallmarks of care: balance, proportion and a sense of belonging to the landscape around it.
